PRESENTATIONS/OTHER

Kim Pearman-Gillman welcomed the group to the The McKinstry Innovation Center. She explained that the vision of the Centers is to bring new and emerging companies together under one roof to foster the advancement of clean energy, life sciences, education and high-tech. The resulting synergy fuels the creation of new technologies, products and services designed to move solutions from innovation to impact. She gave a tour and introduced the group to several innovators who talked about their vision.

She then took the group to the maker-space building located across the parking lot.
