

Spokane Valley CTE Program Advisory Committee Meeting Minutes

Mitch explained the concept of start-up Spokane and that many of the materials came directly from them. The Hack-a-thon was modeled after Startup Spokane. The teachers will get together to figure out the dates later. We will tentatively plan for the second week of January.

NEW BUSINESS

a. Matt briefly explained what a SWOT was. The group brainstormed the following:

Strengths:

- The committee seems to have honest and open communication within the group
- Core group of stable educational members
- Student Driven
- Purpose Driven

Weakness:

- Lack of a clear vision
- Lack of a Program of work
- Why are we here?
- Business Involvement is lacking because of the above

Opportunities:

- Skills in demand
- Business demand

Threats:

- Ed funding is threatening to eliminate CTE therefore the ad committees
- The time commitment to come to these seems to be a lot for some of the instructors
- The sub shortage may mean teachers cannot attend meetings

Scott will share this information with the GAC.

b. Mike Laws brought an Accounting framework before the group and Robin Barnhart brought a Project Management framework. Articulations and economic needs were discussed. The committee members felt that both of these programs are extremely valuable to the students. PM is a capstone class. Both CVHS courses were unanimously approved.

READING AND APPROVAL OF MINUTES

(does not require a motion; may be approved as submitted if there are no corrections)
 The last meeting was the Hack-a-thon and there were no minutes needed.

REPORTS

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Hack-a-thon
 Cheryl Perry at WVHS is the only school that participated and she will be teaching three sections of advanced marketing because of the excitement created from the Hack-a-thon. She explained how she did the week. Other instructors asked her questions.
 We need to make the language simpler for the students. Replace the production part.
